LESS MEANING TO ARMISTICE DAY

Armistice Day is coming up again. Some of the calendars are marked to indicate its coming. But what does it mean to Americans, after 40 years of observance with waning enthusiasm?

Fact is, as we see it, this is one anniversary that has ceased to mean what it meant to a war-weary world when the World War I armistice was signed. And why did it mean so much then? The younger people may wonder about that. It was because the participants at that time were not only happy because of the cease firing but also because they had hopes of the world having been made "safe for democracy."

But what does it mean today? Since that first world upheaval and explosion of international relationships we have had another world conflict, with its devastating blows to the tranquility and peace of mankind. In addition, there was the fiery Korean action, not to mention the lesser shooting of more limited disputes and the cold war, which has become a "fixture" of the atomic age.

Perhaps our people feel that today it is a mockery to observe the victory or the end of something whose end they cannot see, and for which so many have but little hope. Those with the more optimistic mind might hope that it would be abandoned. But in the meantime, the continuous cold war provides a bad atmosphere for a hopeful outlook.

AMERICAN WAY MEANS FAIR PLAY

From across the country comes a storm of protest to a recent ruling of the Internal Revenue Service. The agency has held that institutional advertising placed by privately owned utility companies in opposition to public power development is not a legitimate business expense, and therefore not deductible for tax purposes. As guard-rails of free speech and free expression, press groups and newspapers have been especially critical. They oppose the ruling on the grounds that it is none other than censorship by taxation.

Just recently two state Public Service Commissions have joined those protesting the ruling, making known their stand in letters to the Federal Power Commission. Says the Georgia Commission: "We note that the public power utilities, either individually or through their various associations, publish entire magazines and periodicals and otherwise engage in advertising programs of national scope designed to extol their particular virtues and thereby influence the opinion of the consumer. . . . In our opinion the counter campaign. . . is nothing more than good competitive advertising in the best tradition of our free enterprise system. Such a program is a recognized tool employed by all competitive industries to attract and retain consumers and as such is as much a legitimate expenditure as the advertising campaigns currently being carried on between the electric and gas utilities. . . ."

"The advertising material in question seems to be nothing more than a valid effort on the part of the companies to protect their very existence and it is the opinion of this Commission that the Federal Power Commission should continue as a part of our private enterprise system. . . ."

And the South Carolina Commission agrees identically. The public ownership movement, if successful, will absorb and destroy the private power industry. To deny one party the right to defend itself in print, on pain of heavy tax penalty, "is the sort of thing one expects from Moscow—not Washington," an exchange paper contends.

A WORTHWHILE RESOLUTION

This resolution was passed at the recent national convention of The American Legion:

WHEREAS, the American Legion has long been vociferous and militant foe of international communism, and has fought continuously to alert the American people to the dangers inherent in this godless and atheistic philosophy;

WHEREAS, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, under the leadership of its Director, J. Edgar Hoover, has been in the forefront of the fight to prevent this foreign ideology from taking root in the American way of life, and Mr. Hoover has continuously warned the American people as to the dangers of apathy in this fight; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That The American Legion . . . commend J. Edgar Hoover for his great service to the American people, writing "Masters of Deceit" which simply and succinctly exposed the fallacies of communism and will go far toward alerting the American people to its inherent dangers, abhorring manipulating and lulling tactics; be it further

RESOLVED, that all Legionnaires and all American Legion Posts, Districts and Departments are urged to encourage the widest possible distribution of "Masters of Deceit" and to see that copies are available in all school and public libraries; be it further

RESOLVED, that we also commend J. Edgar Hoover for his forthright stand against the spread of juvenile delinquency.

Well, Nikita Khrushchev has joined the P-T-A and the Anti-Soviet League, and a thirty Communist lies thereof. He says the Red educational system is inefficient, discriminatory and top-heavy, and he's going to "reform" it. Also the Red Boss has decided that the common herd is getting entirely too drunk too often. He's clamping down on the vodka peddlers, and a thirty Communist can get only one drink per visit to any bar. But there's nothing to keep him from stumbling into the nearest ginmill on the march to the 10-family apartment he calls home. Khrush is going to recede that taboo when he finds how hard all that stumbling from bar to bar is on the shoes. And those shoes something the Russians haven't got many of.—Kingsville (Tex.) Record.

An enjoyable day was spent at the Gilmore Lane Elementary School. Mrs. Clinton C. Brown, health chairman of the P.T.A., met the group at 10:00 a.m.

Yvonne Joy, and I visited on a regular school day. No one knew I was coming to see the school. There were about 600 students, and 23 teachers and two music teachers. Mrs. Brown stayed with us all day. We visited two first grade rooms. I was impressed with the comfortable furniture. The first three grades have their own lockers and lockers for wraps.

The children were well organized, each knowing what activity to follow quietly while Mrs. Estel Hatfield was listening to a group read. Children's work was displayed in the hall and rooms. Small pictures with fall leaves forming an object and ghosts made from Kleenex.

When the children went out to the playground, they were given physical education the teachers played with them. They all played happily. Each one knew his place. We watched the first, second and fourth grade play. Mrs. Edith Blankenship and Mrs. Norman Durham's fourth grade class were very good. Each child in their own group. Miss Vivian Mae Lobb, principal, says each period is a learning activity.

The purpose is to develop skills for successful participation in a variety of different kinds of activities. To promote through group participation desirable social and personal conduct. To give each child a chance to lead, and to follow. To provide for the release of emotional and physical energy. To provide for the release of emotional and physical energy. To provide for the release of emotional and physical energy.

On rainy days they have an indoor play for every class. They move the lunchroom furniture back for this. This room also serves for a library. All this is for the benefit of the boys and girls. Their education comes first at Gilmore. The school is 4 years old and very clean. The boys and girls take pride in it.

The halls and rooms were quiet. There were 250 children in the lunchroom and it was in perfect order, children having their lunch. There were several delicious food items, apple sauce and milk.

Our Jefferson County schools have a program which includes physical education and health with Mr. Robert Lewis as supervisor. Concrete

Look of the future on newest highways calls for concrete

The highway ride of 1975 is here!

New-type, sound-conditioned concrete for your new Interstate System of super-roads

There's not a "bump" to be heard when you drive this continuous-kind concrete. Almost like riding above the pavement, instead of on it. You'll say this new-type concrete gives you the smoothest, quietest ride ever.

It's laid without interrupting joints. Then only the thickest, roughest spacers are moved into the surface. You never feel or hear them. Freezing, thawing and de-icing can't hurt new-type concrete. What's more, it's laid fast... stays fast... serves 50 years and more.

Sound means why new-type concrete is the preferred pavement for the new Interstate System.

Trinity Upsets St. Xavier 13-0 Valley Wins County Championship

The Shamrocks of Trinity High School pulled the football upset of the season Sunday afternoon when they defeated a favored St. Xavier 13-0 at Valerounds Stadium.

Leading to St. Xavier's downfall was a previously unseen "double wing spread" which Trinity's coach, Jess Quire, used on the offensive. This pattern forced St. Xavier to defend with at least four safety men were the same as having four men blocked out.

Norm Oberst scored the two touchdowns for Trinity. One came in the third period and the other in the fourth. He carried the ball 23 times for 182 of Trinity's 216 yards the team gained on the ground.

Fern Creek edged out a 14-7 victory over Abertown Friday night at Manual Stadium. A fumble by Abertown with less than two minutes left in the game downed Abertown's hopes of at least a tie. The fumble came on the Creelers three-yard marker. Abertown had completed a first down and had gone to go.

Jack Frick recovered for Fern Creek, but the game had already been won. Fern Creek scored first in the early minutes of the third period. David Harrod tossed a 45-yard pass to Bob Rose who caught it on the 20 and ran to the end zone. Richard Humphrey converted.

The second tie came in the fourth when Rose raced 33 yards following a Fern Creek 87-yard drive. Humphrey again scored the extra point. Abertown's tie tally came in the fourth.

The Eagles of Eastern won over Butler in another Friday night. Scoring touchdowns for Eastern were Jerry Wilson, Wes Worley, Donnie Walker and Stanley Foreman.

Valley won the county championship with a 15-8 comeback victory over Southern. The Trojans scored on the first play from scrimmage when Ted Powers caught a pass from Bob Kingles and raced 64 yards to a touchdown.

The Vikings bounced right back and scored the first tie in the same game. They took the kickoff on their own 39 and on the third down Joe Druggs made a perfect catch to Jim McClure who ran for the t.d. Fonda Seward added the extra point putting Valley in the lead 14-0. Valley scored two points in the second quarter and six in the third. Southern's other two points came in the third.

The victory gave Valley its third crown in four years. "It wasn't our best game," Dallas Arnold, Valley coach, said, "but we played good enough to win and we were real satisfied—they (Southern) played good ball."

Country Day wound up its season with a 13-2 victory over DuPont. The latter's touchdown came in the initial and fourth periods. Country Day scored in the second and third.

Wagner completed its first season of varsity football with a 0-0 tie with DeSales last Thursday night on the Eastern field. Neither team made a serious threat to score.

K.M.I. scored in the fourth period to thwart a shutout at the hands of Lebanon. The final score was 28-7.
